

Forest resource data for Europe

- Europe has 26 percent of world's forest land area.
- Forest: land with tree crown cover of more than 10 percent and area of more than 0.5 ha. The trees should be able to reach a minimum height of five metres at maturity in situ.
- Forest available for wood supply: any legal, economic or specific environmental restrictions do not have a significant impact on the supply of wood.
- Russia Federation is included in Europe.
- Source: Finnish Statistical Yearbook of Forestry 2005 and 2008, Finnish Forest Research Institute.